is Important!

In most sections of the United States and Canada, this is the only variety that you can plant and let grow for years and years without any necessity for winter or summer protection of any kind! It does not have to be divided and renewed each year in order to maintain consistent good cut crops!

Nurseries in Maine, Montana, Canadian Provinces, New Mexico, California, Texas, Alabama, Florida and in between are growing Martin's Super Hardy Tritoma with absolutely no difficulty. It takes the coldest winters, the hottest summers, burning sun, wettest of rainy spells, alternate freezes and thaws in medium areas—thriving in it all.

It is the ideal definition of a hardy plant.

Flower stems are sturdy and succulent. They are thick and will provide water in such quantity to the flower head that they last for weeks after cutting.

The colors range from pale yellow to deep orange and bicolors in between, all of them bright. We have never seen a poor or unattractive flower produced.

Try a few, plant a block. For the garden, for cutting, it is high among the most valuable recommendations that we can make.

Hardy Chrysanthemums

We like to call them

"TRAFFIC STOPPERS"

Throughout the years, many of our friends in the general nursery trade have purchased Chrysanthemums as "TRAFFIC STOPPERS." Consider the billboard attraction of a multi-hued block of Mums. If you have frontage and don't avail yourself of this opportunity to bring in customers, you are "missing a bet."

Several instances have arisen where our nursery friends being totally unfamiliar with the many varieties of Chrysanthemums will rely upon our judgment to supply them with a good starting selection. Many times this is much more satisfactory than attempting to scan the list and order by hit or miss methods. Your price factor and the varieties that will sell and show for you are the main consideration in making your selection.

We extend a sincere invitation to you to draw on our years of experience in the hardy mum field, in helping you to get started with the best advertising you could possibly arrange for and in a venture certain to be pleasing and profitable. Quality plant material and reasonable prices is a combination that can't be overlooked to increase your sales. We invite you to pick from —

Dear Friends:

With the approach of another Spring season, The Joseph F. Martin Co., Inc. is starting our 36th Year of service to horticulture with fine perennial plant material and other nursery stock. We appreciate the business that we have had from you, and hope to continue our fine relationship with the nurserymen, florists, landscape gardeners, retail sales places and related tradesmen.

The increase in popularity of garden stores throughout the country has brought with it an increasing demand for fast turnover,, carry-out items. Perennial plant material can't be beat for this type of business. Many new ways have been tried to merchandise them, and all have met with good success. Carrying a bench of potted perennials under lath, bedding them in a healing ground, a table of paper or composition pots, foil over-wraps, and many other methods suited to the individual operator have been tried and proven successful. We have the selection of plants to meet your needs, and you can be sure that you will receive a fine product at a fair price when ordering them from us.

We suggest that you consider these following items when you are making up your list for Spring: Hardy Phlox, Hardy Asters, Shasta Daisies, DAPHNE CNEORUM, Dianthus, Liatris, CARNATION CRIMSON KING, Golden Vicari Privet, Sedums, Tritoma, Teucrium Chamedrys (Perennial Hedge) and the most complete list of hardy field grown Chrysanthemums in the trade today. The above plants are all well known, and will make a fine profit in a quick turnover cycle.
